

Use of cookies on this site

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small bit of information which is kept on your computer. It is typically used to ensure the functionality of a web site, but it can also be used to collect statistical information on a user's activities in a web site.

What is EU's directive on the use of cookies?

The EU directive on the use of cookies is a part of the EU's "Directive on Privacy and Electronic Communications". The directive was created to protect users from the unsolicited collection of user activity statistics, and suggests that websites should be required to inform its users about the cookies which are placed on the user's computer.

Our use of cookies on this site

On this web site, we use cookies 100% anonymously to collect information about our user's activities. This cookie is deleted when you finish your visit to the site. We use the collected information to improve our web site to ensure that you can quickly and easily find the information you need from us. If you log in or have an e-commerce transaction with us, we use cookies to ensure the technical functionality of these services.